Luxury TAKES SHAPE

DESIGNERS AND ARCHITECTS DEFINE WHAT LUXURY MEANS TO THEM.

PRODUCED BY BRITTANY CHEVALIER MCINTYRE

“BIGGER
ISN'T BETTER
ANYMORE.
QUALITY IS EVERYTHING.”

—CORTNEY BISHOP, CORTNEYBISHOP.COM

“Ravishing, beautifully crafted porcelain. My porcelain dinnerware service that I produced for de Gournay is the epitome of luxury—not only in its craftsmanship, but in its finesse, beauty and the way that it translates traditional luxury into a modern vernacular.”

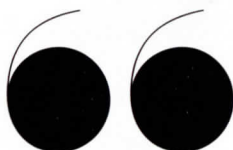

—JEFFREY BILHUBER, BILHUBER.COM

“Classical architecture makes my heart sing—it’s a perfect canvas for both modern and traditional decorating.”

—JENNY VORHOFF, STUDIORIGA.COM

“Good scale, simple details, natural light and contextual architecture that speaks to its surroundings.”

—MELANIE TURNER, MELANIETURNERINTERIORS.COM

IN A CULTURE WHERE MOST
EVERYTHING IS READILY AVAILABLE,
SOMETHING BESPOKE OR CUSTOMIZED, IS TRULY SPECIAL.”

—HOLLY OGDEN, WISEMANANDGALE.COM

“Undoubtedly art. Fine art, whether a painting or sculpture, or an installation can transform a space.”

—JONATHAN BROWNING,
JONATHANBROWNINGINC.COM

“Whether it’s walnut, oak, teak, cedar or a more exotic species—cladding spaces in a warm, organic material is super luxurious.”

—JAMIE BUSH, JAMIEBUSH.COM

The Mara Credenza by Orior Furniture is made-to-order and constructed of Irish green marble.

"It always has been, and always should be, simplicity."

—MASON ST. PETER, MASONSTPETER.COM

"It's the little things ... the scent of fresh-clipped roses brought in from the garden or an unplanned Sunday afternoon spent on the sofa reading the paper with a dog, or three."

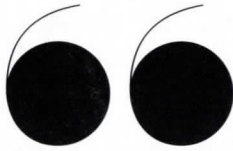

—KEN FULK, KENFULK.COM

"Natural lighting is luxurious. Interiors that have light streaming in from multiple, and sometimes unexpected, directions are the most successful."

—MAX STRANG, STRANG.DESIGN

"Soft velvet upholstery, well-worn rugs, handmade tile, antiques, Dutch oil paintings, shelves of great books—all things comfortable, approachable and classic."

—JESSICA HELGERSON, JHINTERIORDESIGN.COM

THE SPACES WE LIVE IN GIVE US A PROTECTED AND INTIMATE FEELING. IN AN UNCERTAIN WORLD, LUXURY IS THE CALM IN A TURBULENT SEA."

—JEFFREY DUNGAN, JEFFREYDUNGAN.COM

"Silk velvet is probably the most luxurious fabric. Its hand is incredibly soft. I just want to roll around in it!"

—BROOKE GARDNER, BROOKEGARDNER.COM

"Luxury is embracing the beauty of the past while staying true to your own personal style and keeping modern technologies at a minimum."

—MICHELLE NUSSBAUMER, CEYLONETCIE.COM

A custom pendant by Hubbardton Forge.

"You can never go wrong with custom lighting and furniture, large windows, gorgeous woodwork and top-of-the-line appliances."

—LAURA KEHOE, LAURAKEHOEDESIGN.COM

"Bill and Babe Paley's apartment on Fifth Avenue. Between their incredibly important modern art collection, curious and cultured 18th- and 19th-century European furniture, silk satins, and the beautiful architectural backgrounds, nothing could epitomize luxury more."

—BRIAN MCCARTHY, BJMINC.COM

"A LUXURIOUS SPACE IS A MINDFUL ONE; IT'S NOT PRETENTIOUS OR FLASHY."

—ALEXANDRA CHAMPALIMAUD, CHAMPALIMAUDDESIGN.COM
